Monday Morning, May 22.

THESE is a class of persons in the different counties of this State who, in the earlier stages of the war, were taken prisoners, and turned over by the commanding Generals of the Department to the United After being retained in custody, some of them for months, they have generally been discharged by the Court from years past, working at their occupations, and until recently have experienced no trouble at the hands of their Union neighbors. But lately the attempted return of the day and hour for 'vindicating the truth red up the loyal people in the various counties that persons of the class to whom we have referred, have had to leave their homes and seek safety in flight. Being under bail to appear before the United States Court when called on, they could not leave the State, and hence have had no resource left but to apply for protection to the United States Marshal here, whose prisoners they are. Marshal Norton in order to make good the authority of law and uphold the acts and guarantees of the United States District court of this State, telegraphed to General Emory, commanding the department for military force, if necessary, wherewith to protect any of his prisoners, and on Saturday last received from the General the following answer to his dis ties that persons of the class to whom we General the following answer to his dis

GRAFTON. W. VA., May 20, 1865. E. M. Norton, U. S. Marshal:—I am directed by the Brevet Major General com-manding, to furnish you such military forces as are necessary to protect citizens to whom peace has been guaranteed by the United States authorities. Notify me when, where and how much force you re-sublime in the impudence of the rebels. A Texas paper advises that a peremptory demand be made on England and France for the recognition of the trans-Mississippi regions, as a Republic, on its own hook. Pailing this, the doughty Texan proposes that the south shall go back to the Union. and remaining long enough to vindicate the Monroe doctrine, then make war again on the north for separate independence. This, with all the armies on this side of the Mississippi surrendered—they had not then heard of the capture of their President in petticoats-is sufficiently cool. That they do not propose an immediate invasion of any European power is to be attributed to their modesty. Another Texas ized 'United' States, with the barpies that its readers that "Tappiu's brigade" will "dare and do all things." They will "dare" all things in the way of talking they will "do" just what Lee and Johnston and Dick Taylor and the others have done. They are not, by any means, such fools as they profess to be.

Whether Jeff Davis will first be tried as an accomplice of the assassics, or as a traitor, is not determined. It is thought that the government prefers to try him first for treason, although reports come daily from Washington that the evidence implicating him in the conspiracy is becoming more complete. The trial will of course be before a civil court and strictly in accordance with law. There will be no deficiency in the evidence as to treason. And when the judge pronounces sentence be can quote the words of Davis in reference to John Brown: "Who would seek to dull the sword of justice in favor of him whose crime connects with all that is most abbor-rent to bumanity, the violation of every obligation to the social compact, the laws the constitution, the requirements of pub-lic virtue and personal honor?"

THE Boston Courier, always considerate of the sensitive feelings of Mr. Jefferson Daivs, expresses this profound opinion as to bis capture: "We believe that it will be found that he paused for the purpose of permitting it to be made !" There is no denying this. Mr. Davis did pause; he ran as fast and as far as unaccustomed pettibecoming disguise and that escape was there was not chivalry in such a pause, even under petticoats, we know not where

THE secret history of the attempt to induce President Johnson to supercede Secretary Seward, just as soon as the assassins had ended their hellish work, has not yet been half told. It is reserved for use when the man whom Gen. Grant once denounced as "more dangerous to his country than Jeff Davis himself," shall ugdertake some new intrigue to push himself into power to the detriment of the country. President Johnson has too much need of Mr. Seward and too strong a regard for him to censent to his withdrawal from the cabinet. Nor is he unaware of the fact that he owes his pomination as Vice President to the infinence of Mr. Seward and States Court for trial on a charge of trea- his friends. Thurlow Weed states in a recent letter that in 1860 Mr. Lincoln would have invited Andrew Johnson to a seat in time to time on their taking the necessary sition raised by the radicals at Washingoath and entering into bonds to conduct tou-the same men who in 1864 resisted themselves as good and loyal citizens toward the nomination of Mr. Lincoln and the the government. Some of these persons nomination of Mr. Johston, and now impuhave been at their homes for two or three dently claim the latter as their own. Inregard to the persistent assaults upon Mr. Seward by a portion of the press, Mr. ling, on Monday May 23d, at 3 o'clock p. m. The Weeds says:-

of history' in other respects, I am constrained to say—what I am prepared to maintain against all accusers—that the charges almost his life, to his country."

ME. LINCOLN THE GREAT MARTYR OF DE-MOCEACY .- This is what M. Martin, a democratic orator, says in an article in the Paris Siecle, which closes with this strong равзаде:-

"The work will be completed after Lincoln, as if finished by him; but Lincoln will remain the austere and sacred personificawhen, where and how much force you require.

(Signed) Francis Freshner,
Brigadier General.

We trust that the people of West Virginia are to be spared the sight of a collision between Union citizens engaged in any species of lawless defiance of the Government authority and the military engaged in upholding and vindicating that authority. Surely it is no time now, after four years of war to establish the authority of law and the supremacy of the Government, for any one who has sided and sympathised sgainst the rebellion, to be renewing its example. We have had enough of irresponsibility. Let us now have no more of it. The rebellion is overthrown. From its ashes let no spark be rekindled under any pretext. The Marehal intends to protect the class of persons to whom we have referred. It is made his duty to do so, and we trust that we will hear of no occasion for the employments of force. All law a biding citizens will see that those to whom, in the language of Gen. Emory's dispatch, "Peace has been guaranteed by the U.S. authorities," are not disturbed or abused.

> The report that Sanders and Tucker had left Montreal was not true. They are still there, but the Canadians are hinting that they would be glad to be relieved of their presence. Sander's last pronunciamento is rather incoherent. This is the principle portion of it.

"The mendacious and ferocious procla-mation of May 2, 1865, from the federal ruler, reddens and disgraces a page of American history. Thirsting for blood and enessy in his new-found power, the semi-elected President of the disorgan-ised 'United' States, with the harnies that surround him, seeks by the mysterious cloud of concerted calumny to distract the world's attention from a too ready penetration of his schemes for the murder of a magistrate elected by a chivalrous people with the highest forms of civil govern-ment. The 'conclusive' evidence that the federal organs claim to have been sent to Europe can be only forged papers and sub-orned testimony that will shrivel before the fire of truth.

"The truth is, the real object is not so much the persons of certain men in Cana-da, but the use of their names for the manufacture of a net work of conspiracy in which to enmesh President Davis' reputation and consign him to the bloody hands of federal detectives at the first moment of his capture, without shocking the public sense of Europe, by a formal political exe-

THE story that there were counterfeit United States bonds on the European market was only a broker's dodge to prevent their sale and help their disposal of their home bonds. The German bankers were trying to negotiate a new Prussian loan and they couldn't do it so long as the five-twenties were so popular. Washington dispatches say that over $300,000,000 of our five-twenties are now held in Germany alone, but the amount is probably overestimated. The European capitalists who bought our bonds at 45 now have the pleasure of selling them at 64@65 at Lonon-an advance as gratifying to us as to

Messra. McCars, Khaff a Co.—Gentlemen—Last summer being in Nashville, Tenn., I was attacked with a swere Diarrica. I tried the remedies of several physicans, but without any effect. I was welling by my friends to come home. I was completely broken down and prostrated. Upon arriving at home, I was solved to try Kraff's Diarricas Compound. On bottle of it completely cured the discuts and restored my health. I am glad to recommend this valuable medicine to all afflicted with this terrible disease. Your truly.

Messwa McCare, Krayr a Co.—Gentleman—Last summer I was attacked with a very severe Diarri Capfrom which i suffered for some three weeks. I tried various remedies, but was unable to check the disease. I at last procured a bottle of "Krait's Diarrhors Compound." One best e entirely curred the disease, and restored me to my unual heattn. I take pleasure in recommending this valuable medicine, as I have proved its virtue in my own case, and seen it tried by others with the same good results.
